CULTURAL COMPETENCY COURSE

Cultural competency training is completed through the MauriOra cultural competency course. This foundational course was developed specifically for the registered Aotearoa/New Zealand health workforce and provides a basic understanding of cultural competency in the health context. The course satisfies many of the training programme graduate and learning outcomes related to cultural competency.

Instructions on how to how to create an account and redeem a voucher (for free access), then complete the course are in our learning platform TalentLMS. All trainees, Fellows, and educational subscribers have access.